

An Association and Network Devoted to the Region's Fine Art and Fine Craft and the People Who Create It.

About Our Guild

The Southwest Missouri Art & Craft Guild is composed of people with a common interest in the advancement of art and fine craft.

Everyone wishing to support this cause is welcome to join. No jurying or other qualifications are required for guild membership. However, guild sponsored shows, such as Art in the Park, are juried.

The purpose of the guild is to support the working artist:

- Through developing the understanding and appreciation of art and craft.
- By functioning as a resource, network and forum for sharing information
- By helping artists grow their technical skills, increase business and peer contacts and achieve greater marketability for their work.
- Through exposing the art-buying community to the abundant high quality art created by our regional artists
- By presenting workshops, demonstrations, displays, events and publications to expose future artists and the community to the possibilities of art as a vocation.

Meetings

The guild holds regular monthly meetings on the first Tuesday of the month (except for January and July) at 6:30 pm, usually at the Creamery Arts Center at 411 N. Sherman Parkway, Springfield Missouri.

Consult the website for the meeting location and program details at www.ArtCraftGuild.org.

Membership Application

Membership is open to anyone who shares the guild's purpose. The annual fee is $20 for individual or studio membership and $10 for student memberships and is paid from June through May. A studio membership has all of the benefits of an individual membership, but is limited to one vote. All artists who share the studio membership must work in the same medium.

To join the guild, fill out this form, enclose your check and mail it to:
